 mon mallow; the leaves are rougher, and the plant grows
 almost shrubby. Miller.
 ROSEMARY. n. f. [rosmarinus, Latin.] Is a verticillate plant, with a labiated flower, consisting of one leaf, whose upper lip or crest is cut into two parts, and turns up backward with crooked stamina or chives; but the under lip or beard is divided into three parts, the middle segment being hollow like a spoon; out of the two or three-toothed flower-cup rises the point, attended, as it were, by four embryos, which afterward turn to so many seeds that are roundish, and are inclosed in the flower-cup. Miller.
 Bedlam beggars, with roaring voices,
 Strike in their numb'd and mortify'd bare arms
 Pins, wooden pricks, nails, sprigs of rosemary;
 And with this horrible object, from low farms,
 Inforce their charity. Shakespeare, King Lear.
 Around their cell
 Set rows of rosemary with flowering stem. Dryden.
Rosemary is small, but a very odoriferous shrub; the principal use of it is to perfume chambers, and in decoctions for washing. Mortimer's Husbandry.

 Weary of aged Tithon's listless bed,
 Had sped her purple robe through dewy air. Fa. Queen.
 A smile that glow'd
 Celestial rosy red, love's proper hue. Milton.
 Fairest blossom! do not slight
 That age, which you may know so soon;
 The rosy morn renews her light,
 And milder glory to the noon. Waller.
 The rosy finger'd morn appears,
 And from her mantle shakes her tears,
 In promise of a glorious day.
 As Thessalian steeds the race adorn,
 So rosy colour'd Helen is the pride
 Of Lacedemon, and of Greece beside. Dryden.
 While blooming youth and gay delight
 Sit on thy rosy cheeks confest,
 Thou hast, my dear, undoubted right
 To triumph o'er this destin'd breast. Prior.
 To ROT. v. n. [rotan, Saxon; rotten, Dutch.] To putrify;
 to lose the cohesion of its parts.
 A man may rot even here. Shakespeare.
